

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image forming apparatus in which applications can be installed is provided, in which the image forming apparatus includes an application
5 information obtaining part for obtaining application information that is used for determining whether an application is installable in the image forming apparatus.